Allison Cook, M.D. is originally from Versailles, KY. She received her Doctor of Medicine Degree in 2012 from the University Of Kentucky College Of Medicine, and completed residency at the Medical College of Wisconsin. She enjoys obstetrics and gynecology—including contraception, management of abnormal papan smears, pelvic pain, and abnormal periods. She is passionate about providing exceptional, yet personal, prenatal care to her patients. She also has special interest in recurrent pregnancy loss and infertility. Sarah participates in triathlons, SK and 10K races, half-marathons, and the occasional marathon. She also enjoys spending time with family and friends, and experimenting with gluten-free baking.

Jennifer Fuson, MD, FACOG is a huge University of Kentucky Wildcats fan. She enjoys baking, personal fitness, traveling and is married to Adam and their two miniature dachshunds. She also enjoys spending time with family and friends, and experimenting with gluten-free baking.

Sarah Borders, MD is originally from Ashland, Kentucky. She is a proud graduate of Georgetown College and the University of Kentucky College of Medicine. She performed her OB/GYN residency at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. Dr. Cook enjoys a full spectrum of OB/GYN care from annual well-woman visits to the management of gynecological disorders, pregnancy and childbirth. She also has a special interest in minimally invasive gynecologic surgery. She has a passion for providing respectful women’s health care and values the importance of establishing a trusting provider/patient relationship. She specifically enjoys the relationships she builds with her prenatal patients and families. Outside of the office you may find her spending time with her husband Adam and their two miniature dachshunds. She enjoys baking, personal fitness, traveling and is a huge University of Kentucky Wildcats fan.

Reva D. Tackett, MD is originally from Hueysville, KY. Dr. Tackett received an Associates of Science degree from Alice Lloyd College in 1974, a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Kentucky in 1976, and a Medical degree from the University of Kentucky College of Medicine in 1981. She has been in private practice since 1985. Dr. Tackett specializes in Gynecology and Gynecologic Surgery. She is an active member of Crossroads Christian Church where she plays keyboard. In her free time she enjoys spending time with her family, especially her beautiful grandchildren.

Alisha Morgan, APRN, CNM moved to central Kentucky from her hometown of Monticello in 2001. That year she began her career working in a high-risk obstetric setting as a labor and delivery, post partum and newborn nursery nurse. In 2010, she graduated from the University of Cincinnati with a Masters Degree in Nurse Midwifery. One of her favorite parts of practice is getting to know her patients. She also enjoys helping her patients explore all available options to treat problems such as excessive bleeding, pelvic pain, pelvic prolapse and urinary incontinence—including surgical and nonsurgical options. She has special expertise in minimally invasive surgery including daVinci robotic surgery and has received the daVinci Distinguished Surgeon Award by Intuitive Surgical.

Grace Gibbs, DO received her Doctorate of Osteopathic Medicine from Des Moines University (Des Moines, IA) in 2001. She attended the residency program in Obstetrics and Gynecology at Ingham Regional Medical Center in Lansing, MI. After completing training, Dr. Gibbs joined Meridian Women’s Health in Okemos, MI and has been in private practice since. She enjoys obstetrics and gynecology, providing the full spectrum of women’s care. She also enjoys minimally invasive surgery including da Vinci robotic surgery. Dr. Gibbs holds the title Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force. She and her husband, Todd, have two sons—one attending college in Michigan and the other in Florida. In her spare time, she is an avid golfer and college sports fan.

Laure Schadler, APRN, CNM was born and raised in Richmond, KY. She received a Bachelor's Degree in Nursing from Murray State University in 1980. After years of working for LWH as a Clinical Assistant, Sarah obtained a Master's Degree in Physician Assistant Studies from Wake Forest University in 2013. Sarah enjoys forming close relationships with her patients while educating women to achieve their healthiest self from adolescence through menopause. Her personal interests include promoting routine gynecological care through the lifespan, helping women maintain a healthy weight throughout pregnancy and the postpartum period, and encouraging novel contraceptive options. Sarah enjoys spending time with her husband, their twin boys, and their dog, Donovyn. She also loves traveling to the beach, reading, and doing calligraphy.

Sabrina Tackett, APRN, CNM is a life-long resident of central Kentucky. She has been serving women and their families for over 10 years—beginning in 2005 as a high-risk obstetric nurse. Since 2008, she worked as a labor and delivery, postpartum, and pediatric nurse in a rural community hospital. In 2016, she graduated from the University of Cincinnati with a Master's degree in Nurse Midwifery. Sabrina is excited for the opportunity to provide midwifery care to pregnant women and their partners by providing them support, resources, and knowledge, so that they can make informed choices about their unique pregnancy, birth, and delivery. She also enjoys providing gynecologic care to women across their lifespan. Sabrina believes in providing individualized, high quality, compassionate care to women and encourages women to play an active role in maintaining their own health. Sabrina enjoys family time with her husband and two young children. They love to attend UK basketball games, and go to concerts.
